Version	Effective date
ANX241EN.1/30-12-2020	30-12-2020

General Remarks

- The present document is subject to periodic review.
- The interest rate of fixed terms loans is calculated as the sum of the Base Rate and a margin, which varies depending on the type of the loan and the specific approval terms. The contractual documents analyze explicitly the way the interest rate is calculated and applied.
- In case of arrears, a charge of 2.50% over the contractual interest rate is applied on the overdue debt (capital, interest and expenses). The charge is calculated from the 1st day of delay and is accrued every calendar semester.
- Further information and characteristics are available in the Banking Terms and Conditions and in any special terms and pre-contractual information on the respective product.

1. Credit Cards

- Interest rates are augmented by the levy specified in Law 128/1975 (0,60% per annum)
- Interest calculation on purchases starts from the day they are charged until the day they are repaid, based on a year of 365 days and the purchase interest rate
- Interest calculation on withdrawals starts from the date of transaction until the day they will be repaid, based on a year of 365 days and the interest rate of withdrawals

	OPTIMA Credit MasterCard	Επιτόκιο
