General remarks

- The present interest rate policy is subject to periodic review.
- The interest rate of fixed terms loans is calculated as the sum of the Base Rate and a margin, (spread), which varies depending on the type of the loan and the specific approval terms. The financing contractual documents analyze explicitly the interest rate calculation and application.
- In case of arrears, a charge of 2.50% over the contractual interest rate is applied on the overdue debt (capital, interest and expenses). The said charge is calculated from the 1st day of arrears and is accrued every calendar semester.
- Further information and characteristics are available in the Banking General Terms and Conditions and in any special terms and pre-contractual information on the respective product.

1. Credit cards

- Interest rates are annually increased by the levy of Law 128/1975 (0,60%).
- Interest calculation on purchases starts from the day they are charged until the day they are repaid, based on a 365 day-year and the purchase interest rate.
- Interest calculation on withdrawals starts from the date of transaction until the day they will be repaid, based on a 365 day-year and the interest rate of withdrawals.
